Join us and become a Bevan Exemplar

We support health and care professionals with their own 'innovative ideas'

We are looking to support innovative ideas, deliver more prudent solutions tested over a 9-12 month period.

We call the people who are bringing their innovative ideas our 'Bevan Exemplars'

The ideas may include innovative products, processes, services, ways of working, models or interventions, or skills development across health and social care.

With network days, workshops, and mentoring, we help Exemplars try out and test their ideas

Cohort 7 Bevan Exemplars will be working with the Bevan Commission and their supporting organisation(s) for 9-12 months. This will be from September 2021, and the Exemplars will receive support and showcasing the results and benefits from July 2022.

Apply Online

Support for Cohort 7 Bevan Exemplars comes with thanks from the Health Boards and Trusts in Wales and Social Care Wales.

The Bevan Exemplars showcased their work through presentations, posters and write ups that are now posted online. Follow the link to view projects from Cohorts 1 to 5. bevancommission.org/all-exemplars-showcases

Setting out expectations

Exemplars should expect their organisations to:

- encourage and support them to take part in Exemplar events and activities, and give them the time to do so,
- be fully committed to supporting them to deliver their project and
- provide supporting resources,
- help them to overcome challenges or obstacles to delivery.

Exemplars should expect the Bevan Commission to provide:

- a programme of knowledge, skills and leadership development,
- tailored network events and encourage peer support networks,
- coaching and mentoring, support to resolve delivery issues,
- help to make connections to expert leaders through Bevan Commissioners and other senior leaders in health and care,
- a platform to promote and publicise the Exemplars' work widely,
- work with you and your organisation to identify an Executive Sponsor if you don't already have one.

We expect Exemplars to:

- fully commit to participating in the events and networking (up to 6 days),
- promote and champion Prudent Health & Care
- publicise and promote their work as Bevan Exemplar,
- provide feedback and evaluate the impact and outcomes of their work,
- act as a champion for the Bevan Commission and its work, the Exemplar programme, and innovation activities in health and care,
- provide updates and reports to the Bevan Commission, Executive Sponsor and your organisation as required,
- inform the Bevan Commission's and your organisation's work.

Prudent healthcare and coronavirus pandemic

Professor Don Berwick

Watch Bevan Commissioner Professor Don Berwick discuss how the principles of prudent healthcare can help NHS Wales recover from and reset after the coronavirus pandemic.

This year, we encourage ideas and projects to be aligned with:

- Working in different ways and with different people
- Using digital and technological solutions to do things differently
- A different approach to reduce waste and achieve sustainable health and care without harm
- Cutting bureaucracy, empowering people and managing shared risks
- Developing innovative actions around shared priorities, such as reaching the hard to reach groups
- Collaborating to make the most of all skills and resources and doing only what's needed
- Priorities consistent within local organisations and collaborative working

The ideas may include innovative products, processes, services, ways of working, models or interventions, and skills development across health and social care. The Cohort 7 call is people working in Health Boards, Local Governments and Regional Partnership Boards.

Are you ready to join Cohort 7?

Work through the checklist, and if your answers match, you are ready. If you are not sure, join us for an information session, and we can work with you to see if you and your idea is ready for the Bevan Exemplar Programme.

Exemplar Idea Checklist
Is the idea Prudent?	YES!
Can this be delivered within 9 - 12 months?	YES!
Is this idea... New? Innovative?	YES!
Has it potential for adopting across Wales?	YES!
Is this project something I or other people are familiar with and have been doing for a while?	NO!
Has it got a good a chance of working?	NO!
Is it certain that this idea will work?	NO!
